"THE BILL."

Small Load of Mustard Seed Fired.

Another Straight Tip Given Yesterday by The Appeal.

That Writ of Ouster Against Judge DuBose in Chancery.

The Shot May or May Not Bring the Game to Bag.

At All Events, the Judge Doesn't Givo Any Signs of Succumbing, and Makes a Brief But Characteristic Comment.

Yesterday morning THE APPEAL stated that a writ of ouster would be filed in the Chancery Court against Judge J. J. Du-Bose, Criminal Court Judge of this county. THE APPEAL also gave an explanation or summary of the contents of the bill regarding which so much had been said. The document is an unusual one in that such things are seldom seen and to young lawyers particularly, it will be interesting reading, as showing how such things are done. The text of the bill is here appended:

To the Hon. R. M. Estes, Chancellor, etc.

The State of Tennessee on relation of Andrew J. Harris, D. C. Slaughter, J. W. Levi, James Lee, Jr., C. F. Degaris and S. A. Douglas, all residents and citizens of the county of Sheiby and State of Tennessee, respectfully show unto your honor that at the regular biennial election held in said Shelby County on the 5th day of August, 1886, at the time fixed by law in that be-half, the defendant Julius J. DuBose presented his name to the electors of this county, and was in said election a candidate for the high and important office of Judge of the Criminal Court of Shelby That said Julius J. DuBose, after said election had been held, claimed to have received the majority of the votes cast thereat for said office of Judge of the Criminal Court of Shelby County, and upon said claim was thereafter commissioned to hold said office by the Governor of the State of Tennessee for the period of eight years from and after September 1, 1886.

That said Julius J. DuBose, on or about the first day of September, 1886, undertook to enter upon, and did enter upon the dis-charge of the duties of said office of Judge of the Criminal Court, and he has since that time assumed to hold and fill said the time he entered upon the duties of said office, before D. C. Slaughter, a Justice of the Peace for said county, took the oath of ceiving and enjoying the emplaments office, which was filed and entered of record in said Criminal Court, in writing, in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

and State of Tennessee, appeared J. J. PuBose, who, being duly sworn, makes oath according to due form of law, as fel-

"I, J. J. Duffose, elected and commissioned Judge of the Criminal Court of the County of Shelby, State of Tennessee, do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Ten-nessee. That I will administer justice without respect of person, and will impartially discharge all the duties incumbent upon me as a Judge to the best of my ability, and I swear that I have not, directly indictly, given or knowingly carried a challenge, in writing or otherwise, to any person being a citizen of the State since the adoption of the Constitution in 1835, adoption of the Constitution in 1835, and that I will, during my continuance in office, be guilty of neither of these acts. "J. J. DeBossa.

"Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of September, 1886. "D. C. Seauguren, J. P."

Complainants further show unto your honor that the said J. J. DuBose, notwithstanding that he took the said oath of office and subscribed the same in writing, and caused it to be filed in said Crimin Court, was engaged whilst he was a citizen of Tennessee as a second in a duel since the adoption of the Constitution in 1835, and this after the Constitution of 1870 had been promulgated and was in sull that in the month of June, 1870, a dispute arose between James Brizzolari and George R. Phelan, who were both then citizens of Shelby County, Tenn., and which re-sulted in hostile communications between them, from which after one hadehallenged the other in writing a duel resulted, and which was fought in the State of Arkansas in Crittenden County, a short distance south of the city of Memphis. That the parties engaged in said duel left Memphis for the purpose of engaging in said duel, which was fought with pistols in the said place on the morning or afternoon of the 28th of June, 1870; that when said duel was fought the said J. J. DuBose was present and not only aided and abetted the same by giving the encouragement thereto with his presence, but in the said duel appeared and acted as the second of dd Brizzolari; that at the time the said J. J. bullose was the editor of a daily evening paper called the Public then published in Memphis, and over which, as said editor, he had supervision, and in the columns of said paper issued on the 29th of June, 1870, there was an account of said duel covering several columns of the paper, and secording to which account it appears that on the which account it appears that on the ground where the duel was fought, and when the said parties thereto were about to fight the duel, Col. Gallaway and Judge DaBose, seconds, stepped the distance of fifteen paces before agreed on, and were careful to arrange the ground neither of the combatants should have the advantage over the other, bringing the rays of the declining sun immediately across the line that had been selected; that stakes were driven in the way where parties were driven in the way where the parties were expected to stand, and that after this came the tossing for the word, and a nickel was thrown into the air by Col. Gallaway; that DuBose called "tails," and "tails" it was, which gave the right to call the word to the second of Mr. Brizzolari;

that when the pistols were loaded seven paces were measured at right angles to the ine, and there said Dullose stood to give the word; that the parties were then placed his right sleeve, which had fallen down and seemed to annoy him. When this operation was over Col. DuBose asked the operation was over Col. DuBose asked the gentlemen: "Are you ready?" to which both responded "ready." The order to fire was then given by DuBose. The first shot was fired by Brizzolari immediately upon the order being given. His adversary quickly discharged his pistol, the ball taking effect, as was supposed from Brizzolari slight shrinking at the instant. He, however, recovered and fired a second time. Phelan also fired again, and time. Phelan also fired again, and Brizzolari in the act of shooting fell. The firing then ceased on the part of both. The seconds and surgeon of Mr. Brizzolari ran immediately to his assistance. Thereupon the second of Mr. Phelan approached and asked permission to leave the field. Said DuBose stated he would inquire into the condition of his principal and ascertain if he were able to continue the fight. Upon examin-ation it was found that he was seriously wounded, and Col. DuBose theu ap-proached Mr. Phelan's second and said as his principal was badly wounded Mr. Phe-lan and friends might leave the field. Said account of the duel published in the Fubhe Ledger was correct, and gave a true statement of the connection of the said J.

J. DuBose with said duel. By reason of said J. J. DuBose having acted as a second in the duel and aided and abetted in the fighting of said duel, by giving the word of command to the combatants and doing the other acts above mentioned he rendered himself, and became incapable of holding any office of honor or profit in the State of Tennessee, under the provisions of section 3, of article 9, of the Constitution of the State of Tennessee of 1870, which was promulgated and came in force on the 5th day of June, 1870. The said J. J. DuBose, by reason of so engaging in said duel and as aforesaid aiding and abetting the same was rendered incapable of holding the said office of Judge of the Criminal Court of Shelby County, not only under the constitutional provision, but also by the Statutes enacted by the Legislature and which were in force prior to the adoption of said Constitution of 1870, and have been in force ever since their enactment and under which no person is capable of holding any office or said office if he has been guilty of the aforesaid acts, or any of them com-mitted by the said Dullose at any time since the adoption of the Constitution of 1870. Said J. J. DuBose, although commissioned to fitl such office, is in contemplation of law incapable of being the Judge of said Criminal Court of Shelby County, because under the statutes in force in Tennessee, and under the Constitution of the State, enacted by the people, he was incompetent to hold or fill said office or to exercise any of the functions thereof. Said J. J. DuBose has been holding said office ever since about the 1st of September, 1886, and still assumes to hold the same. Said J. J. DuBose unlawfully holds and exercises the said office of Judge of the Criminal Court of Shelby County, Tenn. Said DuBose in accepting and assuming to That said Julius J. DuBose, before or at discharge the duties of said office is an usurper, and is now usurping the functions

The writ was submitted to Attorney General Peters, and that officer took some time to consider it. After a thorough examination of the law and an investigation of his duties in the premises the Attorney General consented to it, and added his reasons, as follows:

The foregoing bill, having been submitted to me by the relators, with the request and demand that I should officially assent to the bringing of the suit, I have very carefully examined the question of my duty in the premises. I have reached the conclusion that it is my duty to give such assent, upon the ground that the facts stated in the bill make out a prima facte case for redress, and upon the further ground that when a suit character is tendered and an individual relator secures the costs of court the law contemplates and requires that the Attorney-General should, as of course or of right, give his assent officially to the filing of the bill upon a proper showing of facts.

"In accordance with this view, I officially brought, over two years ago, a suit against Esq. W. H. Hughey on the relation of a citizen—in the case of State, etc., vs. W. H. Hughey, No. 6,273, R. D., of the Chan-cery Court of Shelby County. I therefore, as I did in that case, file the foregoing bill on behalf of the State of Tennessee on the information of the relators named therein, as I conceive it to be my duty to do. do this officially, and simply in order that the relators, or the public, if aggrieved, may have an opportunity of asserting their rights in court, where the defendant, Judge DuBose, may vindicate his title to office, if the charges made against him are true or unfounded. "GEO. B. PETERS, Attorney-General, "Memphis, Tenn., May 15, 1889."

When informed that the bill had been filed Judge Duliose nervously inquired what it contained. . "That you were one of the seconds in a duel some years ago," replied his informant in the first instance.

"Humph!" ejaculated the Judge; "Is that all? I thought perhaps they would alloge something!"

And he chuckled the satisfaction he suddenly experienced in the relief.

According to the decree of the United States Court for foreclosure and sale the four divisions were first to be put up separately and then the four sold as a unit, whichever should yield the largest amount to be accepted by the masters who were appointed to make the sale. These were Messrs. Bluford Wilson and H. A. Hicks On the sale by divisions, the Popper-Johnson committee, representing the mi-nority of the bondholders, bid higher than the Joy committee for the first three divisions; but when it came to seiling the property in a lump the Joy committee out-bid its opponents with a price in excess of the aggregate of the bids for the divisions, and considerably in excess of the upset price as given above. The masters and attorneys then proceeded to Judge Greshsm's room, where the work of preparing the master's report for the court's approval

The amount received secured the first and second mortgages in Obio and the first on all the rest of the road. Said President Ashley, of the Wabash Western: "We will consolidate the Wabash Railway and Wabash Western by August 1. We will probably call the complete system the Wabash Railroad Company. We have issued and sold $34,000,000 fifty-year 5 per cent, bonds on the consolidated system. Of this we will use $11,741,000 to pay the first mortgage on the Wabash Western. We will also issue second mortgage bonds of $14,000,000 on the lines east of the Mississippi, making $36,259,000 on these lines. There are besides on the lines east of the Mississippi $30,000,000 bonds depending on the income and $52,000,000 stock. The minority bondholders made a great mistake in not accepting 5 per cent. bonds for their 7 per cents instead of compelling us to buy them out. The new bonds are already at a premium of 11 per cent., and I think they will go between 5 and 10 per cent. They not only lost money by their refusal, but compelled us to pay about $400,000 more than it would otherwise

The good thing on the Brooklyn Handicap failed to materialise yesterday. The Eastern sporting papers could see nothing in the race but Hanover, and that usually reliable authority, the Scotting World, in last Monday's issue, said the Dwyers had the race safe. But the wild, western Arguard cautioned its readers yesterday that Hanover had done nothing to justify his being made a favorite, and advised its readers to play Terra Cotta straight and Prince Royal for the place. AT BROOKLYN.

Exile Wins the $10,000 Handicap State The Other Results.

New Your, May 15,-The Brooklyn Handicap has been run and won and Exile is the victor. Fifteen thousand people saw him win and not one of them will forget the grand sight to his dying day. After the third race, just before the great event, there was a rush to the bookmakers' betting shed, which soon so filled it that the men could hardly do business. Men clausored like mad and fought like wild animals for a chance to stake their turf had fared so badly,

A finer day for racing purposes could not have been had. The early arrivals at the track found that the course was in excellent condition, though a little damp un-derneath. It was a little dusty on top and many pronounced it fast, while a few thought it a second or so slow. There was a tremendous crowd present. Not only did New York and Brooklyn pour forti multitudes, but even Boston and Philif delphia sent large representations. Among the prominent gentlemen present were. Pierre Lorillard, August Belmont, President Withers, of Monmouth Park; Capt. Conner, Col. Simmons, President of the Louisville Racing Association; Senator Pinchback, of Louisians; William Lish, of Louisville; The Haggius, Pierre & Son, of California; M. F. Dwyer and Judge

Lead pencils clasped in the dainty fingers of ladies fair made notes of the bets, Carriages were arraved in phalanxes about the course. Handsome women flut-tered from them in gayest of spring attire. Many were the colors of their favorite equine at their breasts. The crowd, warmed up by the first race, grew excited and elled themselves hours as a preliminary to getting their throats in shape to do justice to the handicap. Prince Royal was the first of the great horses to take the track. He was closely followed by Juggier and Terra Cotta, the last named with McLaughlia up, but look-ing pale and ill. They looked fit to race for a kingdom. All the noble steeds were given splendid receptions.

The big floral horseshoe was brought from the secretary's office and placed in the judges' stand. There was quite a de-lay at the post, Exile and Prince Royal being rather fractious. They were ranged in the following order: Juggler having the rail, Terra Cotta next and Richmond, Exile, Elkwood, Prince Royal and Hanover stringing to the outer rail. They broke away four times before getting the flag. In all the false starts the black and yellow of the Clifton candidate loomed to the front, but when the flag went down such a terrific yell of excite ment as went up is seldom heard at any time. When the flag fell Juggler was first away, followed by Terra Cotta, Elkwood, Richmond, Royal, Hanover and Exile in the order named. The latter had much

The wild mania to get a bet at any odds seemed to pervade the multitude. Had there been four times the number of bookmakers all would have been rushed to accommodate the tromendous number of betters. While the gamblers were playing their money other throngs visited the peddock to see the great horses groomed and saddled for the first. When it was all over, and Exile's neck was encircled with the mammoth floral shoe brought to crown the winner, there were money cheers but they were the large of the start. Coming down the bear stretch Hanover and Juggler were racing side by side, three lengths before Prince Royal and Exile.

The others were in a ruck, tailed by Richmond, and in this way they went by the stand, and at the lower end Juggler good start, with Hypocrite second, the rest bunched. The positions remained about the same till the three-quarters. There Hypocrite was brought up from the rear by Barces and lesi into the stretch. VOL. XLIX---NO. 110 KNAVE OR CRANK?

Present Head of the Beekmanites.

The Man Who Claims To Be Christ the Lord.

His Remarkable Success in Deluding Men and Women.

His Religion Rapidly Growing-A Strange Community.

His House a Heavenly Harem -- Meck and Lowly, But He Knows the Value of a Dollar.

Rockford (Ill.) Correspondence of the N. Y. Herald. Christ lives. He has come to earth the econd time. Behold the Savier, Heisthe pure one, the perfect one. He has no guile, He is God, become man. By believing on him we are made pure and sinless as he is and our salvation is assured. Oh, how grateful and happy are we who are redeemed. Blessed be God, that we have found Him."

Such were the expressions delivered in a quiet but intensely earnest tone of voice to Herald reporter this morning by one of the "angels" of the Schweinfurth Community.

What is the Schweinfurth Community? It is the head center of the newest and most remarkable religious sect, of all the queer theological schools, that has found an existence and a company of believers. And the woman whose utterance was quoted above expressed briefly, but honently, the sum and substance of their be-

ORIGIN OF THE SECT.

The sect has been in existence about fiftean years, but Schweinfurth has not been revealed to them as their Lord and Master until within the last half dozen years.

Mrs. Dora Beekman, the wife of a Congregational minister, originated the body of strange believers. She preached that in her own person were the attributes of the risen Lord. She was the woman Christ inspired and made sacred by the indwellodds: Ballymen 104, Stephenson, 15 to 1; ing of Christ's spirit. The band of believ-Morse 93, Ray, 6 to 1; Millie Williams 98, ers grew slowly and steadily. They located their central church at the little to 2. Avendale won easily, taking the lead from the start, Morse second, a length ahead of Millie Williams, third. Time—other churches, and, jumping up, declarother churches, and, jumping up, declaring their doctrines at all seasons, kept the poor clergymen and their faithful flocks in continual hot water. Her husband did not believe the new faith, and as a result he is now in the insane asylum.

The Rev. George J. Schweinfurth was at that time a Methodist minister, a young man of preposessing appearance. He had suburn beard, a white brow, with veins plainly indicating refinement, and a very sharp eye, that could look as neek and patholic as a Dalayare River shalls shall a state. pathetic as a Delawaro River shad's when circumstances demanded humility. Schweinfurth treached in the country churches hereabouts and gathered good authences. He preached well, and he had especially successful scances with the young ladies of his several flocks. It is related that they often pretended conversion merely to kneel at the altar where he port "Dear sister, have faith; only have

Suddenly it was announced that Dominie Schweinfurth had renounced Methodism and become a disciple of Mrs. Dora Beekman. Very shortly afterward he was installed as Bishop of the Beckmanites, as they were called, with a roving commissi to visit the different localities where the creed had gained a footing to exhort and proselyte and orate and be the mouthpiece nd confidential attache of the woman

But, slast for the faith of the little band, Mrs. Beekman died and became cold clay like any ordinary mortal. Her broken hearted believers kept her body for a week expecting that she would rise as she had promised and prophesied. They placed her body on a raised platform and worshipped about it hourly. There were expectant disciples standing about it every moment, in hope that life would return and they would witness the resurrection. The re-mains were never left alone for an instant, but the corruption of the body grew so great that at the end of a week the internent was ordered by the public authori-

THE NEW MESSEAR. At this juncture came forward to the comfortiesa littie band the shrewd Schweinfurth. He declared to them that just as she was dying he saw a glimpse of heaven "through the window of her sout" and from her lips came the words, "You are Christ and by this act transforms thy whole bason of God. Thou shalt bring all nations to worship thee and put to rout the evil one and all the hosts of darkness."

The credulous company believed and re-joiced in the real savior brought to them as from the dead. From that day the growth of the organimembership, has been simply wonderful. The new Christ has displayed business sharpness and a keenness in the study of human nature that has brought forth much fruit.

A good old farmer named Weldon, who was possessed of 800 acres of fine land, became infatuated with the new seet and made over his entire property to Schwein-furth as head of the Church. Here the central community is located and here I found my way early this morning. SCHWEINFURTH'S TARESNACIE.

The home of Christ is a large mansion standing in a spacious inclosure amid a number of large forest trees some distance back from the main road, about five miles south of this city. It has spacious barns, carriage buildings, shods and other appurtenances of a prosperous country mane. The members of the community make the breeding of blooded houses a specialty. Schweinfurth has three imported stallions and a large number of broad mares. He also has about eighty head of time cattle. The house is very roomy and with its wings easily accommodates 100 persons. There are usually about fifty females there and a dozen or fineen men. The male disciples do the heavy work and are Arndges. They live on the plainest food and seep in the attic. Most of them having become infatuated with the new religion, count themselves happy to suffer
